

Thanksgiving 2011

Dearest Members of the University City Symphony
Orchestra:

This year I am thankful for many things: average health, loving family, & wonderful friends.

I am thankful for all the hard work of everyone the past few years and hopeful for the positive changes that will insure the future of the orchestra. We have changed the way we think about doing business by exploring new avenues of fundraising. There are several exciting events planned and we are presenting ourselves to a wider audience. Many of our members and their families have volunteered to make our concerts more enjoyable. We also have some new friends to help us in the process of reinventing ourselves for the 21st Century.

I am especially thankful to our audience – whose unwavering patronage is so heartening to me with their praise for our concerts and their generosity in their support. We know we cannot do anything without them.

I am looking forward to our first major fundraiser, the “Conductor’s Brunch”, on December 11th. I am also thankful that I will be a part of the ongoing evolution of the UCSO as its General Manager.

I wish each of you a wonderful Thanksgiving,

Golda Burke
